Helping adults with special needs become lifelong learners

The National Association for Adults with Special Learning Needs (NAASLN) is the only adult education association in the United States whose mission and purpose is to help adults with disabilities and special learning needs become lifelong learners. NAASLN builds coalitions and partnerships among adult educators, professionals serving adults with disabilities, and people with disabilities to develop and improve learner-centered adult education and literacy programs in the U.S.

To obtain further information on NAASLN, contact Ann Stockschlaeder, NAASLN, 808 17th Street, NW, Suite 200, Washington, DC 20006-3910, USA. Telephone: 202-223-9669; fax: 202-223-9569; e-mail: 75250.1273@compuserve.com.
